Foreword

High school comprises several of the most influential years in a youth's life. It not only prepares those who wish for a higher education to pursue such advanced training, but also forms a firm educational foundation for those who are terminating their scholastic training at this point.

Though Montpelier High School is only an ordinary American High School to most people, it denotes much more to its students. It has been the scene of well-supervised training, undying friendships, and an ever-present spirit of activity and cooperation. These characteristics are essential to the efficient functioning of any organization. For example, a railroad could never successfully carry on its business without the continual cooperation of its personnel, from the executive body down through the section gang. To illustrate how closely the operation of a school and a railroad are related, the 1949 Mirror bases its theme upon the railroad.

The Terminal

She has stood for thirty-five years and witnessed the graduation of 1,718 students in thirty-five graduating classes.

Some of her alumni are doctors, some are attorneys, some are teachers, some are proprietors and some employees of local establishments.

Many of her children have wandered far from her doors to engage in professions outside her domain.

As these students leave her portals they join the never-ending procession threading its way from her doors to various fields of world service.

Dedication

In the past, annuals have been dedicated to ideals, to the school, even to the editors. This year we have given recognition to one person—Nick Jamra—whose name has become a synonym for school spirit. Nick's friendly personality and staunch loyalty have won him the admiration of the whole community as well as that of the students. We will not soon forget his sincere encouragement or his friendly greeting whenever we met. As a token of gratitude and appreciation, we, the Class of 1949, dedicate "The Mirror" to Nick Jamra, a true citizen, whom we consider supremely worthy of our regard.

Administration

The administrative body of the school represent the engineers, conductors, all the persons necessary for keeping our train running on schedule; they are the men and women who make our journey possible. The School Board, directors of all business activity; Superintendent Howald and Principal Karnes, on whom the duty of carrying out their plans and managing the school itself, falls; and the teachers, who do the actual work, who have perhaps the more important and delicate task of guiding us through the labyrinth of difficulties we encounter during our high-school years; all these we salute as the best of their class. We hope the classes to follow will appreciate the true value of such an administrative staff.

Superintendent

W. A. HOWALD, Superintendent

The high school not only has the problem of preparing young men and women for college but it also must provide types of educational experiences and kinds of activities best suited to the needs and interests of that vast majority of American youth who, upon leaving the high school, are brought directly in contact with the most complex civilization the world has ever known and with the problem of making a living. These young people, too, must share the responsibilities which every citizen has for good and effective government and for the preservation and promotion of the best traditions of American life.

Principal

H. A. KARNES, Principal

Since the time community life began, there has been the problem of how to maintain this social condition harmoniously and how to better it. The culture handed down from lands and peoples now dead represents their highest successes and advances in community living; to preserve this culture and to aid in preparing new generations to enter their stations in life well-equipped to add to it, schools were established. They have evolved from the dim beginnings, which primarily contrived to preserve ancient philosophies, to the modern school, whose distinguishing characteristic seems to be increasing practical preparation for living.

In the education of any individual, therefore, one of the fundamentals is learning how to react to the society of which he is to become a part, for there is much evidence that a member of a community cannot be considered separately from his community; each is an integral part of the other. In our school, we have attempted to put this theory into practice by trying to train our students to enter their life well-equipped.

Classes

Here we present the passengers of our train—the classes, from Kindergarten all the way to the Seniors ready to get off! All through grade school we find students making preparations for boarding the train. Then come the Freshmen, safely aboard, still in the daze of getting settled; the Sophomores, well-established in the routine, busily organizing their extra-curricular life; the Juniors, eagerly awaiting the end of their journey, yet absorbed in the activities of their course; and the Seniors, in a last minute flurry of action, leaving the train to which they have become so accustomed.

Class Officers

Every class has its officers, of course, and some of us have filled a position at the head of the class in previous years. But this year there was a special significance in being elected. Many of our class have been together for twelve years and the choosing of officers for our last year was a sort of rite for expressing respect for certain members of the class. We are proud to have seen the choice of the Seniors of 49

The "49ers"

The story of this class does not differ much with former graduating classes, as far as statistics go. But wait, if I may borrow a little of your time?

To start out right, let us turn back a page or two in our life, to about 1937. The scene would be the old grade school. As we looked around the room, we would probably have gazed upon a small group of freckle-faced runts, and examining them a bit more, you might have seen a tear or two, and, if I dare call your attention to it, the little girl the teacher is chiding; listen hard, can you hear her softly sobbing? And then there was Mimi looking proudly at her own little boy or girl, and maybe thinking, oh, so secretly, "There's something special about that child."

The second grade (1938) found most of us in an old house, located approximately in the front yard of the high school gym. Because music students were something very special, they held classes upstairs. If you became thirsty during school hours you would find there were pupils in there, too, and unfold your collapsible tin drinking cup.

When we reached the third grade, our new grade school was built and ready for use and my! what a bug-eyed bunch we were, those first few days. We were so overwhelmed! This year was a great year, with the grocery stores, post-offices, and Indian projects. We were open for business, but we were forced to patronize ourselves for so long enough, everyone else was going into business too, so profits were none too good. 1949 was the year the safety commission filmed an optical illusion of Mrs. Burcham as she ran over her daughter and our fellow student, Elaine, and we mailed a letter to Mayor Harvey.

The fifth grade was really the next heave ho, for this year we changed classes. So many classes and so many teachers, if you caught one of us off guard you might have seen him shaking his head, to make sure he was not merely dreaming.

By the time we reached the seventh grade we were rushing grade school society with our most charming two-step, which only the more talented could master. Also this was the year we made a name for ourselves in athletics "Nick's", and the hairbows. Remember?

The eighth grade should be devoted to the socially minded entirely, with all its junior band concerts, basketball games, and let us not forget the dances and the "grand its round of entertainment, it was time for meant leaving Mrs. Shalzer, Miss Hos Mrs. Borton, Mr. Aulaffer and the others, but with graduation would come new teachers and new activities. There was Mama again, maybe sitting in the front row, or even the last, looking intently at that overgrown bundle of bones stumbling across the stage with a paper that meant so much and she's still secretly thinking, and still very proud.

Our freshman year was fascination at its highest, and strange faces and newly acquired friends were popping out all over. There were hayrides in the country, on moonlit nights, hot dogs roasted out in the open fire, smeared generously with mustard, and as you prepared to sink your teeth into this delicacy, you might have paused a moment in satisfaction, to lazily consider this rare fragment of bliss.

Let us not forget initiation (with all its hazards). I think we were the only freshmen class in a long time that was given an official initiation party. Our freshman year was so something special for most of the girls, for there was the spring festival and probably the first occasion for formals.

The diagram illustrates a two-stage gas turbine engine. Air enters from the left, passes through a compressor (1), then a combustor (2) where fuel is added. The combustion products then pass through a turbine (3) and a nozzle (4). The turbine is mechanically coupled to the compressor. The nozzle is shown with a convergent-divergent shape, typical of a Laval nozzle. The diagram is labeled with numbers 1 through 4, corresponding to the components mentioned in the text.

The following table shows the results of the regression analysis for the dependent variable Y (in thousands of dollars) against the independent variable X (in thousands of dollars). The regression equation is  $\hat{Y} = 1.2X + 10$ . The coefficient of determination is  $R^2 = 0.81$ .

| X (thousands of dollars) | Y (thousands of dollars) |

The regression line is shown in the graph below. The data points are plotted, and the line of best fit is drawn through them. The equation of the line is  $\hat{Y} = 1.2X + 10$ .

The following table shows the results of the regression analysis for the dependent variable "Number of children in the household" (N = 1,000). The independent variables are "Age of the head of household" and "Gender of the head of household". The table includes the coefficient estimates, standard errors, t-statistics, and p-values for each variable.

| Variable   | Coefficient | Standard Error | t-statistic | p-value |
|--|-------------|----------------|-------------|---------|
| Age of the head of household                           | 0.001       | 0.001          | 1.2         | 0.23    |
| Gender of the head of household (Male = 1, Female = 0) | -0.05       | 0.02           | -2.5        | 0.01    |
| Constant   | 1.5         | 0.1            | 15.0        | <0.001  |

The results indicate that the age of the head of household has a very small, positive effect on the number of children in the household, while the gender of the head of household has a small, negative effect. The constant term is significantly positive, indicating that the average number of children in the household is approximately 1.5.

Senior Class History

...e year was spent learning to live like the big boys and girls—and we did.

As a junior class member, everyone's attentions were red on chemistry, the play, and the big banquet. The whole class was frantically trying to bring out its Barry-mor. When the play finally did come out, it was sensational, and rumors had it that the entire cast had one foot in stardom. This year Mama began to realize that the face she used to wash the tears from, was rapidly growing up.

We are now brought to the senior year, the year that counted the ... and as we planned for our senior trip, the essence of sweet adventure surged in every loyal senior's veins. Oh, it was fun planning all those dreams and far-away places, but it all passed so quickly; the senior play, the banquet given in our honor, the football and basketball games, and now we are brought to graduation. The memory of faces will fade like the rose in the family Bible to the little crowd of onlookers, but Mama and you will always remember the "49ers".

Senior Queen

With great pride we the Seniors of '49 present our queen. She has been chosen by the popular vote of the Senior Class for her charm, poise, personality and beauty. Known to every student, Jeannie has proved herself worthy of this honor through all four years of High School.

She was crowned at the Senior Play and reigned at the N. W. O. L. Track Tournament.

Senior Queen: Jean Brown

Queen and Attendants

Each Queen is accorded the honor of four attendants to escort her in her royal activities. This year we have chosen these four girls for the same qualities that characterize our Queen, they are second only to her in popularity and well represent our idea of what every girl should be.

Juniors

There were seventy-nine of us last fall when we returned to the old routine of classes and the new excitement of being Juniors; as upperclassmen, we felt that at last we had become a fixture in our school.

The first few days were devoted to getting adjusted to new schedules and becoming acquainted with new students and new faculty members. As time progressed, many members of the class took an active interest in the various organizations at hand; we also supplied the football and basketball teams with several outstanding players.

Our first social attempt this year was the homecoming party, a success, needless to say; and the Junior Prom consumed our interest and best efforts for weeks. There were rings and sweaters to exhibit, and, our crowning achievement, the Junior-Senior Banquet. Now as our junior year draws to a close, we eagerly await our next year's seniors.

Sophomores

Here come the Sophomores chugging up the incline, puffing around the bend, roaring through the dark tunnel.

We began our journey last year as Freshmen; now we are Sophomores and will continue to travel down the line until our destination has been reached. Obstacles confronting us may slow us up but cannot stop us.

We have made many lasting friends among the passengers and have enjoyed many good times together, not only at parties and hayrides, but also in our every day classes. Reliable officers have been chosen to lead us with the aid of our advisor, Mr. Emans.

Many of us have taken advantage of the opportunities for extracurricular fun by joining such organizations as the Latin League, F. H. A., F. F. A., Orchestra, Y-Teens, and A Cappella Choir. Look for us next year as Juniors on the third lap of our journey.

Freshmen

At what seems a very short time ago we entered the high school, bubbling with curiosity, and unaware of the demons hiding in dark corners ready to reach out and snatch any one of us. However, within a very short time we dispelled those fears.

With the cooperation of our more learned predecessors we found it much easier to travel new and different ways in an unfamiliar hall of knowledge.

Since we entered the high school we have participated in many extra-curricular activities such as the Latin League, the F. H. A. Also, many of the boys have become acquainted with the basketball court, the cinder path, and the football field. In several of the sports the boys have shown outstanding ability.

A new experience for us was the annual trip to Dehance College to take part in the Scholarship tests.

We sincerely hope to make the best of our educational facilities and to overcome all obstacles.

Elementary School

Principal F. A. Abatter

The Elementary School with a staff of thirteen teachers has the ever continuous task of preparing over five hundred pupils in the fundamentals that are necessary for their progress.

With the complexities of the world steadily on the increase, the problems faced by the Elementary School and its pupils are sure to become correspondingly greater.

I believe that our school will help to prepare your child to meet life problems better if we have a closer relationship between pupils, parents and teachers.

A modern building planned to keep up an attractive appearance as well as for use, the Elementary school was completed in 1939. Last summer a complete cleaning and redecoration project was enacted, leaving us with a school which we are proud to exhibit.

The elementary school is the very heart of our community. It is the first phase of our education. It is their duty to prepare the students of grade school age with the fundamentals necessary for higher education. It is through their patience and understanding that the students may leave the elementary school with a strong and adequate background.

Sports

Another important phase of our school activity is our sports department. One of the most prolific of divisions, it boasts entertainment, physical fitness, mental alertness, and a healthy sportsmanlike attitude toward life as its benefits. We of M. H. S. are proud of our athletic teams; to us they are always champions, whether league leaders or not. In previous years football, basketball and track have been the divisions of this department; this year we add another, baseball, to the list. Here we present them—Varsity players nearly all of them, completing their last year at Peder. The reserve squad, future teams in the making, the freshman and eighth grade teams, all showing great possibilities not only in abilities, but in leadership and sportsmanship.

Second Team

Patently waiting! That was the motto of the second team. Although many of the boys found it difficult to wait patiently they never complained and most of them saw action sooner or later.

Many of the boys on the second team got into the game quite often, which helped them gain valuable experience. Next year will see these boys on the first team playing a game which their past experiences enabled them to play.

Some of the boys have already learned that hard driving, good sportsmanship, and determination not only in the games, but all the time, pays off. With these three important factors and the second team will go far next year.

Varsity Cheerleaders

How many of you have seen a cheerleader at all? The cheerleaders are the girls who are the pride of our school. They are the girls who are the most popular and the most beautiful. They are the girls who are the most popular and the most beautiful. They are the girls who are the most popular and the most beautiful.

In the fall of 1911 the cheerleaders were the most popular and the most beautiful. They are the girls who are the most popular and the most beautiful. They are the girls who are the most popular and the most beautiful.

Reserve Cheerleaders

The boosters of the Reserve basket squad deserve much credit for the spirit and enthusiasm they showed this season in the Second Team Games and at the Pep Sessions.

Junior High Cheerleaders

The pep and enthusiasm of this brightly clad foursome bolstering their team in all the games couldn't be beaten. With the cheering ability that they have shown this year, they may all look forward to cheerleading careers during their high school years.

Montpelier vs Bryan

First encounter with Bryan found them in an early season slump, which enabled her to come up with 37-21. This

Basketball Team in Action

At the top of the page, the first photograph shows three players in white uniforms. The player on the left is wearing jersey number 33, the player in the middle is wearing 55, and the player on the right is wearing 65. They are standing on a basketball court.

The top right photograph shows two players in white uniforms. The player on the left is wearing jersey number 22 and is jumping towards the basket. The player on the right is wearing jersey number 77 and is also jumping.

Intramurals

The following are the results of the intramural basketball games played during the season. The teams were divided into two leagues, A and B. The A league teams were the Varsity, the Freshmen, and the Sophomores. The B league teams were the Juniors, the Seniors, and the Girls. The games were played on a regular basis and the results were as follows:

Activities

What the club car is to a train, the activities pictured on the following pages are to our school. They reflect the many interests we have had photography -a recently established club; music- -which includes the glee clubs, band, orchestra and a cappella choir; athletics—consisting of football basketball and track; literature—the literary club; drama—the junior and senior plays; all have their representative organizations in M. H. S. And on the more serious side appears the Student Council and the Scholarship Team. These extra-curricular activities provide not only recreation but also education, and prove that work and play can be combined.

Music is the most intimate and personal of the arts. It is the only art that we can share with the people of all nations. It is the only art that we have a power and a force for the good of the world and of the individual. It is the only art that is not only a pleasure but also a duty. ## Orchestra

PRESENTING Music by Montpelier High's RYTHMN ACES.

The Montpelier High School Orchestra is a very efficient group of musicians. It is not only a credit to the school but to 'Pelier High it means the Rythmn Aces.

Drum Major

A whistle blows, a baton flashes and high-stepping John Johnston leads the band away in perfect coordination.

John, a senior, has been exceedingly successful in his first year as drum major both for the band and for himself. He won first place in twirlers' contest at Paulding and led the marching band to victory at the Paulding Fair.

Girls' Glee Club

It has as its aim to promote the singing and the doing of the large things which are possible through the cooperation and community effort. It gives expression to patriotism to every girl in the intelligence that should be in every school and every class in it.

The Glee Club sings interesting harmony and does very well. The event of the year for the girls was the annual Spring Music Festival held in April followed by a dance the next day. The girls made a very lovely picture in their many colored uniforms.

The officers for this year are President: Gertrude Hickert, Vice-President: Carolyn Snyder, Secretary: Doris Stintz, Treasurer: Marilyn Moore.

Y-Teens

The leaders of this organization which is a sister division of the Y. W. C. A., serve as rustlers to promote higher morale and spiritual concepts for better living throughout the country.

They are elected at the end of every school year so that they will be ready to begin their duties at the beginning of the following year. In October a candlelight service is held to induct the new officers. This year they were: President Vonda Lightbody, Vice-President Fern Ruggen, Secretary Charlotte Best, Treasurer Mary Beasler. Mrs. Whitfield serves as a very capable advisor.

The first project this year was to send presents and cards to the football and basketball teams. At Christmas they decorated a very beautiful tree and placed it in the hall. The girls also went carolling and gave gifts to the needy of the town.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions, including sales, purchases, and expenses. It emphasizes the need for a systematic approach to record-keeping, such as using a ledger or accounting software, to ensure that all financial data is properly documented and organized.

2. The second part of the document focuses on the importance of regular reconciliation. This involves comparing the company's internal records with external statements, such as bank statements or supplier invoices, to identify any discrepancies or errors. Regular reconciliation helps to ensure the accuracy of the financial records and allows for the timely identification and correction of any mistakes.

3. The third part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining proper documentation for all financial transactions. This includes keeping receipts, invoices, and other supporting documents for each transaction. Proper documentation is essential for verifying the accuracy of the financial records and for providing evidence in the event of an audit or dispute.

4. The fourth part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all assets and liabilities. This includes tracking the value of the company's assets, such as equipment and inventory, and the value of its liabilities, such as loans and accounts payable. Accurate records of assets and liabilities are essential for determining the company's net worth and for making informed financial decisions.

5. The fifth part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all income and expenses. This includes tracking the company's revenue from sales and other sources, as well as its operating expenses, such as salaries, rent, and utilities. Accurate records of income and expenses are essential for determining the company's profitability and for making informed financial decisions.

6. The sixth part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all taxes and other legal obligations. This includes tracking the company's tax liabilities, such as income tax and sales tax, and other legal obligations, such as payroll taxes and workers' compensation. Accurate records of taxes and other legal obligations are essential for ensuring compliance with applicable laws and regulations.

7. The seventh part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all financial statements. This includes preparing and maintaining accurate balance sheets, income statements, and cash flow statements. Accurate financial statements are essential for providing a clear and concise overview of the company's financial performance and for making informed financial decisions.

8. The eighth part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all financial transactions. This includes tracking all sales, purchases, and expenses, as well as all income and expenses. Accurate records of all financial transactions are essential for ensuring the accuracy of the financial records and for providing a clear and concise overview of the company's financial performance.

9. The ninth part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all financial transactions. This includes tracking all sales, purchases, and expenses, as well as all income and expenses. Accurate records of all financial transactions are essential for ensuring the accuracy of the financial records and for providing a clear and concise overview of the company's financial performance.

10. The tenth part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all financial transactions. This includes tracking all sales, purchases, and expenses, as well as all income and expenses. Accurate records of all financial transactions are essential for ensuring the accuracy of the financial records and for providing a clear and concise overview of the company's financial performance.

- 17—An assembly program with Alice and Harold Allen presenting "The Mikado" in colorful and authentic costumes.
- 21-22—The Junior play. A big success!

APRIL

- 7-8—The annual Music Festival was well received.
- 8—Preliminary general scholarship tests.
- 22—Junior and Senior Banquet. What wonderful memories!
- 29—Band Banquet.

MAY

- 7—District tests in Defiance.
- 10-11—Senior Play. Always a huge success.
- 27—Senior Chapel.
- 29—Baccalaureate.

JUNE

- 2—High School Commencement.
- 3—"The End." It's been real!

Snapshots

It is anybody's guess as to what inspired the poses in some of the following pictures, but like to think of them as pleasant memories of carefree, happy moments during summer vacation, parties, and hool.

OFT, IN THE STILLY NIGHT

(Scotch Air.)

Oft in the stilly night,
Ere Slumber's chain has bound me,
Fond Memory brings the light
Of other days around me;
The smiles, the tears,
Of boyhood's years,
The words of love then spoken:
The eyes that shone,
Now dimmed and gone,
The cheerful hearts now broken!
Thus, in the stilly night,
Ere Slumber's chain has bound me,
Sad Memory brings the light
Of other days around me.

When I remember all
The friends, so linked together,
I've seen around me fall,
Like leaves in wintry weather;
I feel like one,
Who treads alone
Some banquet-hall deserted,
Whose lights are fled,
Whose garlands dead,
And all but he departed!
Thus, in the stilly night
Ere Slumber's chain has bound me,
Sad Memory brings the light
Of other days around me.

The Senior Class of 1949 wishes to give sincere thanks to the business men of Montpelier for their kind support of our 1949 Mirror

Throughout our many years in school these business men have made valuable contributions of time and material toward our various school functions. These contributions have often meant the difference between success and failure. It is this kind of cooperation and understanding that our Democracy is based on and we are gratified to know that it starts here in our own home town

We wish to thank you and wish you the best of luck in years to come
